Course of Fire: Two Rounds:

Scope Class: 50 yard Official Smallbore Rifle Target (A-23/5) at 100 yards. Each round consists of unlimited sighters at bull S, and five shots for record into each of bulls 1 through 4 (20 shots for record each round times two rounds = 40 shots for record for the match).

Iron Sight Class: 100 yard Official Smallbore Rifle Target (A-25) at 100 yards. Each round consists of unlimited sighters at bull S, and ten shots for record into each of the two bulls (20 shots for record each round times two rounds = 40 shots for record for the match).

Shooters may return to the sighter at will. There is no time limit, but each round takes about 30 minutes.

All shooting will be done from the tables with shooter-supplied rests.

Best Edge Scoring will be by experienced scorers selected by the Match Director. The benefit of the doubt goes to the shooter. Questions may be asked, but no challenges are allowed except for mathematical or recording errors.

Equipment:

Cold Weather Gear: Bring your own.

Eye and Ear Protection: Bring your own.

Shooting Rest and Bags: Bring your own.

Ammo: .22LR (also Shorts or Longs): Bring your own.

Spotting Scope: Bring your own (a good idea at 100 yards).

Rifles: Two Classes: 1. Iron Sights (no restrictions); 2. Scopes (no restrictions).

The rifles fielded by the participants are many and varied. Some are the “squirrel guns” used by our fathers and grandfathers when they taught us the fine art of marksmanship. Some are rifles designed specifically for smallbore bench rest competition. Some are classics that we have owned for years. But most are “off-the-shelf” that have been built into rifles we are proud to own and to shoot. We enjoy their accuracy, their appearance, their history, etc.

If you enjoy shooting it, bring it out. This is your venue. You will be welcomed.
